

Corsair 28RS

Aft Cockpit Sports Cruiser

2009 Specification

The Corsair 28RS, like all of its predecessors & current sisters, is an easily trailerable sport boat because of its lightweight & low profile on the trailer. As with other Corsair trimarans, the transition from trailering to sailing takes about 30 minutes. The mast is raised or lowered using the installed winch on the trailer as with all Corsairs. Everything about the Corsair 28RS is designed to get you on the water & across the water quickly, comfortably & affordably. With a well-planned main cabin, the Corsair 28RS allows for family cruising even without the aft cabin; the V-berth is ideal for one or two children & can certainly accommodate two adults, & the settee area converts to two singles, or an expansion of the V-berth. Moreover, the reduction in weight & expansion of cockpit that results from eliminating the aft cabin makes this Corsair a bit faster & great for warm climates where less cabin space is required.

The base boat includes all the following features:

- Electrical system with breaker panel, test meter, 12V accessory outlet, & master switch; navigation, foredeck & cabin lights
- Lightweight folding system
- Rotating 38' aluminum double spreader wing mast with main, jib, spinnaker and screecher halyards; roller furling boom with 8:1 outhaul; stainless steel standing rigging; two Harken B40.2 self tailing primary winches; one 10" winch handle; one Harken B32.2 self tailing cabin top winch, two Harken 32.2 coaming winches; one Harken Big Boat Series traveler car; one Harken Hexa-cat™ 8:1 mainsheet system; jib sheets; five Spinlock XTR clutches for halyards
- Carbon fibre bowsprit with deck hardware for spinnaker & screecher
- One foredeck hatch; two float hatches, anchor locker
- Tinted polycarbonate cabin windows & hatch boards; pop-top companionway hatch
- Bulkhead mounted compass
- Boarding ladder with transom mounting
- Grey wing nets with hiking straps, bow nets & bow pulpit
